Over at Western, Howard and Peck are sure to be lost to the team while the status of Peyton will be decided the first of next week through the result of an examination. The loss of Brons Howard to the Red and White aggregation will be felt to no little degree, and there to the Red and White aggregation will be felt to no little degree, and there seems to be little chance for Coach Morse to develop a man as capable in covering first base as is young Howard. Peck, the other lad who failed in his attempt to land passing marks, was being depended upon to fill one of the outfield positions, and judging from the work of this lad last suring Western is losing one of the last spring Western is losing one of the the hope of every Western follower that Peyton will manage to pass up his work in the near future as he is the cleveres little outfielder the schoolboy lengue ha

Thornett, one of the best hitting infielders in the series last spring, was the loss at Eastern. A special effort will be made on the part of Thornett to get eligible for the hast half of the series.

Hilleary, Donn. Otte, and Fleharty have to take a back seat at Business, and one can easily see the unfortunate situa-tion existing in the ranks of the Stenor-raphers with all of these men being counted upon to land regular bettle. Hilleary and Donn were expected to do the bulk of the catching, while Otte and Fleharty were expected to show to ad-vantage in right field and third base.

The result of last week's work at Tech brought to the front some more good pitching material. Logan and Randall are the hurlers referred to, the former being big right-hander, while the latter avers from the South side.

by the Business authorities to coach the pitchers, will start work tomorrow. Greene expects to play professional ball again this year, and for this reason will only spend two weeks with the Stenographers. I it is needless to say that during this time the former Catholic University man will greatly aid. Coach White in _reting his slabbists ready for the coming season.

The departure of Hollinsworth from Central will be greatly felt by the track team, as he was one of the fastest hundlers Central has had in recent years and was sure to be a point winner in the scholastic meet this spring. Holsworth left the O streeters in favor surveying party in the West.

Earle Rover, captain-elect of the 1914 football team at Western, will in all probability be seen behind the bat this probability he seen bearing the bat this scrason. Coach Morse may be forced to use the little second baseman in this position as there seems to be no one evallable other than Royer to make up a formidable battery—more than half of average high school bail team. As a result of the advisory marks. Western will be able to use Spivester Maxam, who has been running unattached in the Indoor meets in this seco date, and during which time has caused considerable comment by the followers of track athletics.

Maxam's work to date has been nothing short of sensational, and he will be Western's one best bot in the high school ment this apring with much of Western's chances for honors again this year, restng on his shoulders

Maxam is also a good baseball player, and will be a candidate for an outfield josition on the Red and White team.

Cathedral and Friends school will hook up in the first scholastic game of the season next Friday, which will take place on Safterice Field.
